Message from the President

Our cooperative business model provides member benefits

At Blue Grass Energy, if you receive electricity from us, you are not customers, you are members of our cooperative. And as a member, you enjoy certain values that customers do not have with other electric providers.

Values such as receiving your power at our cost. Our rates are based on two main components—actual cost of generating your power and the cost for us to get that power to you. At every level, we work diligently to keep rates as low as possible.

The second component—the cost for us to get your power to you—is made up of operational costs which include the cost for poles, lines, and other necessary equipment to provide your power. The rate members pay also covers improvements made to the power grid to help ensure the power you receive is reliable.

One of the biggest advantages of being served by your cooperative is that we work only for you. We do not have stockholders expecting a dividend. We are not-for-profit, which means we are working only to provide you with safe, reliable and affordable energy services. Should we collect an amount in excess of those required to operate Blue Grass Energy, those funds are returned to each member as capital credits.

So, when figuring our overall rates, members should consider capital credits in the quotient. Returning capital credits to

BGEnergy is making wishes come true for our youngest members

This past year, you have read about some of the incredible things our 2017 charity, Make-A-Wish, has done and our efforts to support them. Working with our members in employee-led efforts like candy bar sales, blue jean days, chili cookoffs, silent auctions and penny wars, we raised an amazing $18,490.33, directly benefiting Make-A-Wish.

This money will make life better for children with life-threatening illnesses. And that is a perfect example of putting our purpose of making life better, the cooperative way into action. We couldn't have done it without our members, and we are excited to work together again in support of the American Cancer Society in 2018.

Thank you for helping us be difference makers in our communities.

Be prepared for spring storms

BGEnergy Safety Coordinator Matt Thomas has some information and tips for us to be prepared for the upcoming spring storms.

Lightning from thunderstorms kills more people each year than tornadoes or hurricanes, according to the American Red Cross. As spring arrives, make sure you're prepared to handle storms that come with the changing season. Follow these tips to stay safe.

Stay away from down power lines. Electricity could still be flowing through them. Call 911 immediately.

Hear thunder? Head inside. If you can hear it, you could be in danger from lightning. Stay indoors at least 30 minutes after the last clap of thunder—a recommendation from the National Weather Service. If you're outside and can't seek shelter indoors, avoid high ground, water, tall isolated trees, and metal objects like bleachers or fences.

Unplug your electronics. Avoid using electrical items and telephones, which can carry power surges.

Delay outdoor activities. If conditions are right for a thunderstorm, postpone the baseball game and stay inside—it doesn't have to be raining for lightning to strike.

members is a practice unique to the cooperative business model and represents one of our seven cooperative principles—members' economic participation.

So the next time you think about your cooperative, remember your membership has many benefits. One is receiving your power at our cost. Another is we remain local so we can better serve you. Increasing the value of your cooperative membership is just one of the many ways we are making life better, the cooperative way.
